

*Your word is a lamp
for my feet,
a light on my path....*

Psalm 119:105

How will reading the Bible help me take God's Light into God's world?

(adapted from "Truth with a Mission: Reading All Scripture Missiologically" by Christopher J. H. Wright – available on the MacChap website)

Reading the Bible through the lens of what it means to take God's light into God's world (i.e. missionally) begins with considering the Bible's very existence! The Bible shows us the 'self-giving movement of God' towards us as his creation – even when we chose to rebel against him and try to do things our own way.

"The very existence of such a collection of writings testifies to a God who breaks through to human beings, who disclosed himself to them, who will not leave them unilluminated in their darkness ... who takes the initiative in re-establishing broken relationships with us." (C. R. Taber, "Missiology and the Bible," Missiology 11 (1983): 232.)

The way that the Bible came to be is also evidence of God's mission. Much of scripture was written in the midst of events where the "people of God engaged with the constantly changing and challenging task of articulating and living out their understanding of God's revelation and redemptive action in the world. ... The text in itself is a product of mission in action."

For example, most of the letters that Paul wrote came from a desire to take the truth's of God's gospel into the daily context of his own life, the church's growth and way of being and into the cultural realities of his day.

The gospels were called 'gospels' because they were written to "explain the significance of the evangel—the good news about Jesus of Nazareth, especially his death and resurrection. Confidence in these things was essential to the missionary task of the expanding church. ...

And the person to whom we owe the largest quantity of the New Testament, Luke, shapes his two volume work in such a way that the missionary mandate to the disciples to be Christ's witnesses to the nations comes as the climax to the Gospel of Luke and the introduction to the book of Acts."

The Old Testament is also shaped by the way that Israel, as God's people, was to take God's light into their world. The writers of the Old Testament wrote about "what God had done, was doing, or would do, in their world".

"The Bible, then, is a missional phenomenon in itself. The writings which now comprise our Bible are themselves the product of, and witness to, the ultimate mission of God. The individual texts within it often reflect the struggles of being a people with a mission in a world of competing cultural and religious claims. And the canon eventually consolidates the recognition that it is through these texts that the people whom God has called to be his own (in both Testaments), have been shaped as a community of memory and hope, a community of mission, failure, and striving.

... the whole Bible renders to us the story of God's mission through God's people in their engagement with God's world for the sake of God's purpose for the whole of God's creation. Mission is not just one of a list of things that the Bible happens to talk about, only a bit more urgently than some. Mission is, in that much-abused phrase, "what it's all about." "

How is the reading plan structured?

Depending on how quickly you read and write, these readings may take about 30 - 45 minutes a day. This plan has short 'snacks', an 'entree'; and then the full 'meal' so we hope that you will 'eat' something every day - even it if it is small!

You can be flexible in how you use the weekly plans... but be sure to develop a healthy habit of spending time daily with the Lord. At the very least have a go – God might surprise you!

What if I get behind?

If you do get behind, don't worry. Just skip straight to today's date and start again from there. A reading plan will not make you right with God; Jesus already did that at the cross. You are right with God, so enjoy His presence!

What if there are things I don't understand?

Many times as we read the Bible we will find things that we don't understand, Keep a note of tricky passages and plan to ask a friend, a mentor, your small group, or someone at church.

Is it really worth the effort?... Yes!

- God will speak to you through his Word.
- You will get to know our God more deeply, and deepen your precious relationship with Him.
- Going deeper into God's Word will be a lot more fun than you may imagine.
- Your daily prayers will be inspired by God's word – you will learn to pray in step with the will of God.
- You will discover all the promises and plans that God has made – and kept!
- Spiritual Fitness – a strong, personal, real relationship with God - is of great value in the good times and essential in the tough times of life. Deep roots sustain in dry times and produce the sweetest fruit in good times.
- Spending time each day with the Master will mean He will rub off on you – you will accidentally become more like Him.
- Those things you are striving for – contentment, patience, hope, joy, peace - look out they may come in new and exciting ways.
